List Candidates For Primary Election April 13

POLITICS DEPT.: "Timotheus," one of the county candidates began his conversation with me at half-time of the Harrisburg-Charleston basketball game here Saturday night, "why don't you put in your column the names of those who are running for county office?"

"Why," I asked him. "Because," he replied, "I've been doing quite a bit of running around and I'm finding out that there are lots of people who don't know who is running for the offices. Some are mixed up on who's running for what and some just don't know who's running at all for certain posts."

So Timotheus devotes today's near-daily effort to telling you the names of those you'll find on your Democratic and Republican primary ballots on primary election day, which is Tuesday, April 13.

To begin with, Saline county is electing a sheriff, county clerk, county treasurer, county judge and county superintendent of schools in November. There'll be a Republican and a Democrat elected from each of the county's 34 precincts. And each party will elect a senatorial committeeman.

In addition, 68 precinct committeemen will be elected at the primary—not at the general election in November. There'll be a Republican and a Democrat elected from each of the county's 34 precincts. And each party will elect a senatorial committeeman.

Also, there'll be a separate non-partisan ballot upon which three members of the Saline County Board of School Trustees will be elected. This, too, is a final election at the primary polls.

Numerically speaking, at least, there's most interest in the race for sheriff, as nine are seeking the office. Five are Republicans, four are Democrats.

Those with a Republican primary ballot will find the names of Henry C. Dempsey, Ebert May, Layman Jones, John H. L. Parish and Charles Dee Barrett. Democratic primary voters will have a choice among Roy Ross Lane, James B. Wootard, Frank W. Bruce and William T. "Wee" Barrett.

Next biggest race, still speaking of the number of candidates, is for county clerk, where there are four Republicans and two Democrats seeking nomination. Democrats are Don B. Garrison and Earl M. Dabney. Republicans are Paul Hilliard, Verner E. Joyner, Herman Conover and Raymond "Red" Allen.

For county judge, Trafton Dennis is unopposed on the Democratic ticket, Ralph W. Choisser is unopposed on the Republican ballot.

Ditto for county treasurer and school superintendent.

For treasurer Paul Sangler seeks the Republican nomination, Maynard Cannon the nomination on the Democratic ticket.

For school superintendent, Raymond "Pete" Gardner is the Democratic candidate and R. Dale FAMILIAR FACES FIGURE In Operation Aqua are shown as they received their blank petitions in the council room of the Harrisburg city hall last night. They took these petitions out into the city and got 1,322 signers who ask that the Lake Harrisburg proposition be brought to a vote as soon as possible. Seated at the table at the right is Robert S. Davenport, who directed the operation. Seated at his right is City Attorney Serial Thompson and sitting on table, looking back into the crowd, is Mayor Ralph Horning.

Civic Workers Secure Names to Petitions to Speed Lake Program

Advocates of a Lake Harrisburg last night united in an operation to hurry the lake program by securing 1,322 names on petitions calling for a vote on the $200,000 bond ordinance recently passed by the Harrisburg city council.

Teams were assigned to canvass the city at the city hall and they went out into all parts of Harrisburg getting signatures. They turned in their petitions last night. Carriers were members of the Jaycees, Lions, Kiwanis, Rotary and other interested persons who volunteered.

Saline County Farmers' Co-Op Organized Here

A newly-formed company—known as the Saline County Farmers' Cooperative Company—has been organized in Harrisburg. It was officially announced today for the primary purpose of improving the merchandising of farm products locally.

It is anticipated that the company will be fully organized within the very near future and action taken at that time toward its initial goal, the purchase of a local outlet.

The new company, organized under the provisions of "The Agricultural Cooperative Act of the State of Illinois," was formed by local businessmen and farmers. The group, it was stated, will strive to attract more area farmers to the city to transact their business.

Articles under which the cooperative was formed set forth the company's policy to purchase, handle, store, deal or trade in the market and to sell grains, soybeans and other agricultural products. The concern will also deal in seeds, feeds, fertilizers and insecticides.

The governing board of the organization has been set up so as to consist of a board of directors of not less than five nor more than eleven members.

Among those whose names appeared on the petition of charter were Howard C. James, Harker Miles, Paul T. Endicott, Robert W. Ozmert, George R. Myers, John Endley, Victor Humm, L. W. Smith, Paul Hilliard and A. L. Smith.

The cooperative is patterned after similar elevator co-ops located in the northern part of the state. A spokesman for the organization pointed out, however, that this cooperative is not a member of a chain and emphasized that it is locally owned and controlled with all benefits remaining in the area.

Father of Clifford Stricklin Dies At Lakeland, Fla.

William H. Stricklin, 83, retired carpenter of Harrisburg, died Monday at Lakeland, Florida, where he had been residing at the Union Carpenters' home since 1937.

He was the father of Clifford Stricklin of Harrisburg, who was unable to be at his father's bedside due to his own illness. Mrs. Stricklin had planned to go to Lakeland on receipt of word that the elder Mr. Stricklin was failing rapidly, but word of his death came before she departed.

Burial will be at the Carpenters' cemetery in Lakeland Wednesday. Mr. Stricklin had lived in this area all his life preceding his retirement in 1937. His wife, the former Gertrude Newcomb of the Raleigh community, died in 1932.

Mrs. Jacob (Millie) Gahn of Gary, Ind., Mrs. Sam (Bertie) Combs of Detroit and Mrs. Elizabeth Cable of Decatur are surviving sisters. The late Mrs. W. T. (Edith) Cable was another sister.

Scientists Say Gamma Globulin No Proven Cure

WASHINGTON (U)—A committee of scientists reported Monday that gamma globulin—the "miracle" polio serum—has not yet been proven a cure or preventative of the disease.

The committee said in a report that the government has not yet had time to test the serum adequately so that a true evaluation of its worth can be made in the fight against infantile paralysis.

The group was appointed by the Public Health Service to evaluate the data collected so far from cities where gamma globulin has been widely used.

The committee reported that preliminary data indicated that the serum had not "measurably" reduced the number of polio cases in households where members had been inoculated after one of them had been seized by the dread disease.

The scientists also reported that the serum has shown "no measurable effect" at cutting the "severity" of paralysis on persons to whom it was given after they had been stricken.

However, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said in New York the committee's report in "no way" questioned the value of gamma globulin as a temporary preventative when it was inoculated into children on a mass basis.

Meeting Tonight at Court House to Discuss Blood Program

All persons interested in keeping the Red Cross blood program in Harrisburg are asked to meet at 7:30 tonight at the court house to hear Dr. Warren D. Tuttle explain the program.

A Red Cross spokesman said that the meeting is being called so that people will understand the importance of the program to the community, that insufficient effort is being made at present to keep the program here.

PTA Founders' Program Held At Junior High

The annual Founders' Day program of the Harrisburg Council of Parent-Teacher association was held last night at 7:30 in the Junior high school auditorium.

Officers of the association are Trafton Dennis, president; Mrs. James Arensman, vice president; Mrs. Shannon Taylor, secretary and director of district 39; and Sam Potter, treasurer.

Rev. John P. Emig, pastor of the Presbyterian church, gave the invocation which was followed by the address, "Closer Parent-School Cooperation," presented by William Carruthers, Murphysboro, who has been the superintendent of schools in Jackson county for the past 20 years.

Mr. Carruthers discussed the big problem facing schools today and the lack of teachers. He stated that within the next year the state of Illinois would need 2,475 teachers, and that there are only 830 available. In high schools alone 2,145 are needed and only 140 are available. It takes four people to begin studying for the teaching profession to get one teacher for service, he said.

He also mentioned the reasons for the lack of sufficient teachers. Low wages, over-crowded classrooms, lack of equipment, too much strain on one teacher, criticism on the teaching profession were named as the main factors behind the problem.

Then too, he pointed out, that for every scandal in the community, the blame was placed on the schools. The schools were charged with not doing a good job of teaching fundamentals which were the most important part of a child's education.

He continued that there was only half enough money behind each pupil in Illinois for proper education and that southern Illinois did not have the industrial wealth to support schools without a higher tax rate. He concluded by saying that "tax for city schools and safety were the best investment a citizen could make."

The Junior high band, directed by W. W. Chunn, presented four numbers entitled, "LaBanda Nascata," "Pacific Waves," "Monarch March" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

The president, Mr. Dennis, then made the presentations to the unit presidents of the P. T. A. of the schools in the district. Mrs. Irene Langford received the banner for many years, he has owned and operated Evans Super Service, and had the Pontiac dealership here for some time. He has served on the Illinois Industrial Commission, and holds mine examiner's and mine manager's certificates.

Evans lives at 302 East Poplar with his wife, Antoinette. Their two sons, Ray, owner and operator of Evans Thrift Cleaners, and Tom, a medical student at Loyola university in Chicago, are both well-known in this area.

Sister of M. C. Warren Dies at Benton

Mrs. Josely Holmann, 89, resident of Benton for the past 15 years, died at the Moore hospital here yesterday at 9 p. m.

She was the sister of M. C. Warren of Harrisburg, who died at the Frick funeral home in Marion where the funeral will be Thursday at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Moseley Is Named State Mother of Year

Metropolis Woman Is Selected by Illinois Committee

URBANA, Ill. (U)—Mrs. George H. Moseley of Metropolis was hailed today as Illinois "Mother of the Year."

She was selected by the Illinois State Mothers Committee Monday. Mrs. Moseley, mother of four children, one a Navy doctor killed in World War II, will compete for national "Mother of the Year" honors. The national Mother of the Year will be named just before Mother's Day in May by the Golden Rule Society in New York City.

Mrs. O. B. Pace, chairman of the nine-member Illinois committee, said Mrs. Moseley has lived "a crowded, worthwhile life," which included religious and political action, civic achievement and family success.

Mrs. Moseley's oldest child, Dr. George H. Moseley Jr., went down with his ship in the Battle of the Java Sea in March, 1942. Her second son, Paul, is a realtor in St. Louis. Her two daughters are Mrs. Hope Riepe of Park Forest and Mrs. Eleanor Kerr of Chicago.

Mrs. Moseley has taught a Sunday school class at the First Christian Church in Metropolis for 30 years. In 1927 she was awarded a prize of $500 in gold for the most distinctive child welfare project in Illinois, an award made by the State Public Health Department, State Medical Society and the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

In 1932 she headed a drive to clean up a vacant lot next to Metropolis' city library and erect a monument on the lot to World War I servicemen. In a recent civic project Mrs. Moseley led a campaign for funds for Massac County Hospital, raising $53,000 after a goal of $37,000 had been set.

Mrs. Moseley has been a "militant Republican" throughout her adult life. Mrs. Pace said, but was commended by women of both parties.

The Illinois committee named runnersup for Illinois mother of the year honors as Mrs. Charles Wood, Lincoln, Mrs. G. L. Royalt, Danville, and Mrs. R. R. Barlow, Champlain.

Mrs. Pace said she will visit Mrs. Moseley Wednesday to make plans for an award day at which Mrs. Moseley will be honored.

A businessman in Harrisburg for many years, he has owned and operated Evans Super Service, and had the Pontiac dealership here for some time. He has served on the Illinois Industrial Commission, and holds mine examiner's and mine manager's certificates.

Evans lives at 302 East Poplar with his wife, Antoinette. Their two sons, Ray, owner and operator of Evans Thrift Cleaners, and Tom, a medical student at Loyola university in Chicago, are both well-known in this area.

Ingrid Bergman Escapes Actual Burning at Stake

ROME (U)—Actress Ingrid Bergman was almost burned at the stake while reenacting the role of Joan of Arc she made famous on Broadway and in Hollywood, her studio said today.

Her studio said she suggested the faggots heaped about her chained figure actually be set afire to lend realism to the new picture being directed by her husband Roberto Rossellini.

Rossellini agreed, the reports said, and the blaze was touched off after the Swedish actress was unchained. She overdid the realism and was almost reached by the flames before jumping to safety, coughing and choking.

Ex-President Hoover Sees No 'Big' Depression

WASHINGTON (U)—Former President Herbert Hoover assured the nation Monday night it can have "high confidence" that the country is not headed into another "great depression" like the one he grappled with two decades ago.

The 79-year-old former president said the "combustible materials" that triggered the depression during his administration are not around now to haunt the first Republican president since he left office.

Mr. Hoover expressed confidence the economy will ride out the current dip, which he declined to give a specific name. But he said if times do get tough, taxes should be cut in order to pump more consumer buying power into the economy.

In a wryly humorous speech before the American Good Government Society, the usually solemn former president observed a battle was going on "over whether or not we are in a dip, a slump, a readjustment, a recession or a depression." He added that he "should be regarded as an expert" on the subject of depressions.

"At least I was credited with having constructed one all by myself," he said. "I even received the honor of having that depression named after me by various political candidates."

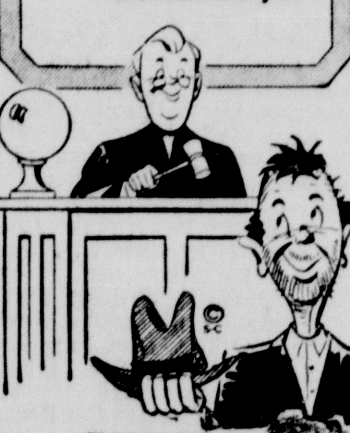

Mr. Hoover made his somewhat light-hearted analysis of the economy at a dinner where he and Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas were awarded the society's 1954 Good Government awards.

The former president diagnosed the present situation as "the inevitable result of the ebb and flow of a free economic system." He said scientific discovery, invention and improved production methods have enabled business to sustain the nation's present standard of living with some goods left over.

"It is these surpluses, plus dehydrated optimism, that are worrying the situation today," he said.

His "remedy" if things do get bad, Mr. Hoover said, was the "proposal" of President Eisenhower to cut taxes "in such fashion as to increase the buying power of all the people, so that they absorb the surplus and thus lift the whole level of the standard of living another stage."

Described as Employed in The Pentagon

Secretary Stevens To Appear at Hearing Thursday

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today accused the Army of refusing to fire from a secret job in a Pentagon code room a woman who was known to have been a Communist and may still be.

He made the charge at a public hearing of his Senate Permanent Investigating Subcommittee that opened a new phase of his running feud with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens.

Stevens will appear before the subcommittee Thursday to challenge what he calls McCarthy's "unwarranted abuse" of loyal Army officers.

The new case involved Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, whom McCarthy described as a current employee in an Army Signal Corps code room in the Pentagon.

Undercover Agent Testifies
Mrs. Mary Markward, a former FBI undercover agent, testified that she had known a woman named Annie Lee Moss as a Communist "as early as 1944."

She said the woman worked in a Pentagon cafeteria at that time, and belonged to a Communist organization in which Mrs. Markward was an officer. "There is no question in my mind" but that this is the same woman who now works in the code room, Mrs. Markward said.

Stevens told reporters he had "never heard" about Mrs. Moss before today.

McCarthy said he "assumed" Stevens was personally unaware of the case. He said Mrs. Markward's reports to the FBI identifying Mrs. Moss as a Communist were relayed to Army officials "a long time" ago "but the Army wouldn't get rid of her." Subcommittee counsel Roy Cohn said the FBI reports went to the Army and Civil Service Commission as late as 1951.

Demos Sit In at Hearing
Democratic members of the subcommittee, sitting in on the hearings for the first time since they staged a walkout last July, raised the question of possible mistaken identity. But Cohn said reports from other FBI undercover agents backed up Mrs. Markward's identification.

"There is no question Annie Lee Moss... was an active member of the Communist Party," McCarthy said. "There is nothing to show she broke with the party."

Mrs. Markward said that she had been ready to testify on the party activities of Mrs. Moss but had not been called by Army officials.

McCarthy commented that it was "incredible... that superiors knew Mrs. Markward was available to testify and didn't call her in clearing" Mrs. Moss.

McCarthy said that was intended as "no attack" on Stevens. "I feel confident Bob Stevens did not know about this case," he said, but added he intends to ask the Army secretary about it when he appears Thursday.

Officer Will Not Appear
McCarthy interrupted the hearing.

Did Ever a Prospective Mother Have a Worse Time?

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Charlie Wilson is determined to boss his Defense Department; Eisenhower wants his Bureau Chiefs to Sing the Same Song; Budget Will Be More Unbalanced Than Expected.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Wilson is burned up over the way Adm. Radford has been slipping around to the White House behind his back to see the President.

Radford by-passed Wilson and went straight to Eisenhower to get Air Force technicians sent to Indo-China. He talked the President into the idea without even taking it up with the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Again last week, he pulled the same maneuver. Radford slipped in to see Eisenhower and persuaded him to increase the number of aircraft carriers on active duty from 12 to 14.

Radford took the chief of naval operations, Adm. Robert Carney, along with him, but didn't bother to clear it either with the secretary of defense, his boss, or the other joint chiefs with whom he is supposed to cooperate.

The first time Radford by-passed his boss, the secretary of defense said nothing. The second time, he hit the ceiling. Wilson figures that part of the heavy expense of running the Defense Department is due to the inclination of the brass hats to get the bit in their teeth and run away with things. This is especially easy when another military man is President of the United States.

So long as he is secretary of defense, Charlie Wilson intends to run the Defense Department. If, on the other hand, the military are going to run the Defense Department, he'll resign.

Senate Sights — New York's 75-year-old Sen. Herbert Lehman strolling down the corridor, holding hands with his wife . . . the gum-chewing Democratic leader, Texas Sen. Lyndon Johnson, being out-chomped by Maryland's Sen. John Marshall Butler, sitting across the aisle . . . Delaware's quiet Sen. John Williams, the scourge of the chiselers, waving affectionately to his wife in the Senate gallery.

Mrs. Pat Nixon, wife of the vice president, growing more beautiful and her hair a deeper red every day. (Other Senate ladies want to know the name of her hair rinse.) . . . Maine's attractive Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, the only lady member, wearing a fresh red rose — sent her every day by a Washington auto dealer . . . not to be outdone, North Carolina's dignified Sen. Clyde Hoey shows up each day with a red carnation in his lapel. . . Handsome Sen. John Bricker of Ohio running his hand over his silvery locks, making sure every wave is in place. . . Washington's bachelor Sen. Henry "Scoop" Jackson dashing around the Senate in a shabby brown sweater. . . Tall, slim Papa Robert Kefauver listening intently from the Senate gallery while his son, Estes, debates the Bricker amendment. . . Idaho's self-conscious Sen. Herman Welker glancing up at the Senate press gallery to see whether folks are watching. . . Sen. Fred Payne of Maine presiding over the Senate with professional poise, booming out parliamentary decisions. (He's had more hours in the chair than anyone else, including the vice president, who is the Senate's official presiding officer.)

CAPITOL CAPSULES

Ike's Fact Paper — President Eisenhower now sends out a "fact paper" to all bureau chiefs, giving the official White House policy line on important questions. He has been working on a "fact paper" explaining what officials should say when asked about the very embarrassing question of the 2,200 so-called "security risks," which are now turning out to be about 10 percent of that figure.

Big Budget Deficit — Assistant Director of the Budget Rowland Hughes has admitted behind closed doors that the Eisenhower budget was based on two assumptions: 1. That employment would remain between 2,000,000 and 2,500,000; 2. That there would be no change in the international situation . . . but unemployment has already soared over 3,500,000, and the crisis in Indo-China will cost triple the Eisenhower estimate. . . Government economists now predict privately that the deficit will be at least four billions more than the President figured.

Dulles Is Happy — President Eisenhower has been advised by John Foster Dulles that the Berlin conference actually improved prospects for peace with Russia — even though it failed to settle any problems. . . Dulles sent a special report to Ike at Palm Springs saying that Molotov's stubborn stand in Berlin clearly shows the Russians are gravely worried about developments inside the Iron Curtain. . . Because of this uncertainty, Dulles sits tight and makes no aggressive move in Europe, for at least one, perhaps two years. (not as reassuring as Igor Gouzenko, who told me Russia was not likely to take the offensive for 10 years.)

ARMY CATERER

The Army Chief of Staff's office has just granted a special, unprecedented promotion to the enlisted man in charge of decorating the tables at the Fort McNair officers' club. He is John Sabitini, who was promoted overnight from a sergeant to a chief warrant officer, though it usually takes written examinations and four years' service for anyone else to make the warrant grade.

Reason for this sudden promotion was that Sabitini threatened to quit the Army and go back to private catering. It happens that the high Pentagon brass do most of their entertaining at the Fort McNair officers' club, and they like the way Sabitini decorates their tables. So, in order to appease him, they rushed through special orders to make him a chief warrant officer.

The order was disapproved by the Army personnel section, but the chief of staff's office overruled the personnel section and made Sergeant Sabitini a chief warrant officer in charge of Fort McNair parties.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Adm. Arthur Radford, reporting secretly to the Senate Foreign Relations committee, was so optimistic about the Indo-China crisis that Senator Humphrey of Minnesota scrawled a note and slipped it to Senators Mansfield of Montana and Gillette of Iowa. The note read: "I don't think we are getting all the facts. (They weren't)." Some State Department security agents under Scott McLeod have been asking doctors to violate their sacred oath and talk about their patients. The doctors have refused.

Do You Know What Makes Up Air Force?

WASHINGTON — What an infantry division is to the Army, a "wing" is to the Air Force—the basic combat unit. But few civilians and not all Air Force men can tell you what's in one.

This is because various wings vary widely in their makeup, depending on their type of plane and mission. There is no such thing as a typical wing. This setup may exist on paper, but it has been changed to meet operating needs. And it would have more men in wartime than in peace.

But when the Air Force talks of the 143 wings it would like to have, or the 120 wing interim goal set by defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, it means that number of these basic combat units — capable, at least in theory, of moving anywhere and sustaining themselves in combat.

Core of a wing is a combat group, containing its fighting planes and their crews. But a wing also has three other groups — a maintenance and supply group which does just what its name says, an air base group which does the "housekeeping" — and runs the mess halls, guards the field and so on — and a medical group.

Within the combat group are two or more squadrons of planes. A fighter squadron has about 25 planes and 450 men in peace, 650 men in war. Bomber squadrons have fewer planes and more men. A heavy bombardment wing, flying B-36's, has 30 planes and 3,600 men. A medium bomb wing has 45 bombers—either the jet B-47's or the old propeller-driven B-29's and B-50's—plus a tanker squadron or 30 planes for aerial refueling. It has 3,000 to 3,300 men.

A light bombardment wing has 18 jet B-45's or World War II vintage B-26's, and 1,500 to 1,800 men. A fighter-bomber wing has 75 planes, either F-80 Shooting Stars, now obsolescent, F-84 Thunder jets, or F-86 Sabrejets, and 1,400 men.

There are also reconnaissance wings, flying camera-equipped versions of the same planes, with a few more men than their fighting counterparts.

Division Setup — A heavy troop carrier wing has 18 big transports, either C-54's—the military version of the familiar DC-4 transport, or C-124 Globemasters, and 1,500 to 1,750 men. A medium troop carrier wing flies 8 flying boxcars and has 1,500 men.

Two or more groups make an air division, and two or more divisions an air force, like the Fifth Air Force in the Far East.

But this standard setup is only the takeoff point for a hodgepodge of variations. In heavy bombers and some medium bombers, the air force is now using a "double wing" plan, which is not a football formation but a scheme of keeping two wings at one base, thereby cutting down on headquarters and housekeeping functions. Both wings share the same air base group.

Wings of the Air Defense Command are spread over the territory they are supposed to defend, one or two squadrons at each field. Some are only tenants on fields run by other commands.

The Tactical Air Command comes nearest to the theoretical wing setup. Its fighter-bomber troop carrier, and light bomb wings are trained and designed to move overseas as units.

Stolen Auto Found Stripped and Burned

A 1954 Chrysler automobile that had been stolen from the Jordan car lot south of Eldorado was found near Old Shawneetown yesterday, stripped and burned, state police reported.

Desks for Stenographers in Embassy Abroad Too Modern for Practical Use

WASHINGTON — Stenographers at the U. S. embassy in Brussels are in deep trouble. Their new chairs are so fancy nobody likes to sit in them. And the shiny desks are so modernistic there are no old-fashioned drawers for such essentials as stationery, carbon paper and, alas, powder and lipstick.

Not only that. The desks came without front panels which anybody would think would be standard equipment. Embarrassed State Department officials had to order special panels put on.

New chairs have been ordered, too, the ordinary kind of stenographers' chairs. But nothing has been done about finding some drawers for the desks.

This bit of intelligence—domestic and foreign division—came to light in testimony published today by a House Appropriations subcommittee. The testimony contained more than a dash of criticism for the handling of American property abroad.

Fantastic Story

The criticism was leveled by a three-man subcommittee which toured world capitals during the congressional recess last fall. The subcommittee consisted of Reps. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio), Sam Coon (R-Ore.), and Prince H. Preston Jr. (D-Ga.).

The subcommittee said it found a "fantastic story" in France, involving the purchase in 1948 of a residence in Paris for the ambassador at a negotiated price of $1,959,000. The previous owner of the property, Baron Maurice de Rothschild, described as perhaps the richest man in France, sold the property to American representatives.

But before turning it over to them, he made gelatin casts of objects of art, paneling, balusters and staircases, and hauled the originals away. He removed gold-leaf decorations and substituted bronze paint. Valuable tapestries were removed from the walls and a big marble staircase replaced with an inexpensive imitation.

The subcommittee was told that the house was "worthless," but that the land might be valuable.

Truck, Auto Collide at Eldorado

A truck and a car collided on Route 45 at Eldorado at 8 a. m. today with the driver of the car being hospitalized. Deputy Sheriffs Isham Threest and Lowden Perkins reported.

Taken to the Ferrell hospital was Carl Cox, 48, Eldorado. His car figured in a collision with a pickup truck loaded with corn that was driven by Daniel Collins, 16, of Equality Route 1.

Betty Hedger, in the Cox car, received first aid and Collins planned to have a checkup to determine injuries. Also with Cox were Marie Hicks and Ernest Rose of Stonefort, who was hitch-hiking back to an Air Force base where he was stationed and who had been picked up by Cox.

Saving Evergreens
Evergreens may be twisted out of shape or broken under the weight of snow. Avoid this by brushing away with a broom the snow that accumulates after a heavy fall. If yew, boxwood, rhododendron and mountain laurel are piled high with snow, raise the branches carefully and shake gently. Do not pound the tops.

Social and Personal Items

SHOWN CUTTING THEIR WEDDING CAKE at the reception following their marriage ceremony are Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Leolan Willis, of Equality. The double-ring ceremony was conducted at 6 p. m. Sunday, Feb. 14, at the Water Valley Methodist church, Water Valley, Ky. The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. William Harris Pearigen, Sr., of Water Valley, and her father read the ritual. Mr. Willis is the son of H. Aubrey Willis of Ridgway. The bride attended Murray State college, Murray, Ky., and is a member of Tri Sigma social sorority. Mr. Willis was graduated from Murray State with a bachelor of science degree last year and was a member of the "M" club. "Station KKIL" Program
At Wesley Center by Methodist Kupples Klass
Any interference that might have been intercepted Friday evening at WSIL-TV could have been caused by station KKIL that was in session at Wesley Center.

The call letters, KKIL, represent the "Kupples Klass Idiots on the Loose." This station was also named "The Crow's Nest," stealing everything it could which is typical of the crow.

Bim Jolin, (Raymond Foster), was the program chairman for the evening. The programs presented on the station consisted of a trio by the Dandy Sisters who sang "Looking For a Man." The trio was composed of Mrs. Mary Biggers, Mrs. Mary Johnson and Mrs. Wilma Gidcomb. Ducky Luroy was depicted by J. C. Gasaway in his cowboy outfit singing and playing several selections on his guitar. Oran Ray Brown impersonated Eddie Fisher by singing "O My Papa."

A melodrama given by Mrs. Ora Russler, Robert Rushing, Mrs. Wilma Gidcomb and William Biggers was a "knockout." Marshall Cochran conducted the "take off" on Spike Jones' band which was composed of Bill Stain, Lyle Wharton, Buck Russler and Bill Biggers.

In the style show that was held Charles Chrisman displayed a play suit, J. Clyde Ragan and J. C. Gasaway, an afternoon frock; Noble Shaw, a satin evening frock with silver slippers and bag to match; and Joe Garrison a teenage outfit.

Mrs. Ethel Stain and Mrs. Evelyn Cummins were the stage managers.

The costumes alone in the affair were well-worth venturing out in the rain to see.

Sandwiches, pie and coffee were sold with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Donald O'Neil in charge.

The TV program was held in connection with the third silent auction. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hill, Mr. and Mrs. William Hopkins and Mr. and Mrs. James Reers conducted this event.

The net proceeds to be added to the building fund from the TV show, the food sale and the silent auction was $114.56 for which the Kupples Klass wishes to thank its public.

Mrs. Opal Moore underwent surgery Monday at the Wellborn Memorial hospital in Evansville, Ind. Her room number is 130.

Saline Baptist Association B. W. C. Federation Entertained At Dorrisville Baptist Church

The Federation of Business Women's circles of Saline Baptist association was entertained Monday evening at the Dorrisville Baptist church, where a delicious dinner was served by members of the Woman's Missionary society. Forty-eight attended.

Mrs. Teius young gave the invocation and Mrs. Luther Brinkley presented the evening's devotion.

Mrs. Ruby Woodruff, president, conducted a business session, during which Mrs. Young, Federation adviser, presented her resignation, and Mrs. O. C. Cooper of Eldorado was elected to succeed her. Mrs. Young's husband recently resigned his pastorate at the Dorrisville church, and they will move soon to Murphysboro where he is to be pastor of the Elm Street Baptist church.

Mrs. Hazel King of Eldorado was in charge of the program, which included solos by Mrs. Denzil Simpson, Mrs. Ralph Woolard and Mrs. Vernard Clayton. Piano accompanists were Miss Norma Cannon, Mrs. Helen Asbell and Mrs. Lee McGuire, respectively. Mrs. Ruth Dorris and Mrs. Wanda Davis sang a duet, with Mrs. Lodema Sisk at the piano. Mrs. Ralph Bean of Eldorado read a poem, and the program was climaxed with an inspirational story by Mrs. Charles Reeves of Eldorado. Mrs. B. E. May offered the benediction. Announcement was made by Miss Mildred Suter that a mission study class will be held by the group in May.

The program for the evening was presented by Mrs. James Gaskins, who reviewed Clifford Odette's "Awake and Sing." This play was revealed as a dramatization of a group of human beings with individual drives and torments fighting against life to find happiness.

Following the close of the regular meeting, members were seated at card tables where favors of red and white sugar cube corsages were used as decoration. Bridge and canasta were enjoyed, and prize winners were Mesdames John Utter, Victor Humm, Trafton Dennis, and Roger Johnson.

Two Senators Tour European Plane Plants

PARIS (AP)—Sens. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) conferred today with Gen. Alfred E. Gruenther while the Communists sought to inflame public opinion with charges they were here to "start a reign of McCarthyite terror."

The two senators are making a whirlwind tour of Western Europe's fighter plane production financed by 550 million dollars in American orders. They will visit plane factories and defense sites in France, Germany, Britain, Italy and Spain.

Bridges and Symington met Monday night with Gen. Lauris Norstad, air deputy general for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and with Gruenther, the supreme allied commander today. Tonight they dine with John G. Hughes, U. S. ambassador to NATO.

The senators said they were making the tour so "we'll have the answers ready" when defense and foreign aid bills reach the Senate in the spring. But the Paris Communist newspaper L'Humanite took advantage of their visit to try to whip up anti-American feelings.

The Paris paper said the senators had three reasons for their "Yankee mission."
1. "To test the strength of Communist influence in factories producing armaments."
2. "To start a campaign of espionage and tale telling which would institute a McCarthyite reign of terror in French factories."
3. "Reduce resistance to their policies and bring pressure to bear on public opinion to favor their methods."

Montgomery Ward Ordered to Pay CIO Union $250,000 in Damages

CHICAGO (AP)—Municipal Judge Joseph B. Hermes today ordered Montgomery Ward & Co. to pay a CIO union $250,000 in damages.

The case was an aftermath of the famous incident in which sol-diers carried Montgomery Ward Chairman Sewell Avery out of his office during World War II.

Hermes awarded $250,000 to the CIO United Mail Order, Wholesale and Retail Employees Union and $17,000 in fees to Union Atty. Fran-cis Heister for a total of $27,000.

The union had sought $800,000 on grounds it was damaged by a Montgomery Ward injunction which later was dismissed.

The case grew out of the com-pany's opposition to the union in World War II, when Avery was carried bodily from his office after the government took over the huge mail order firm.

The government seized the company after it refused to abide by a War Labor Board directive ordering it to enter into collective bargaining with the union.

The company, acting "under duress," signed a short term con-tract with the union but refused to renew it after December, 1943, and filed a one-million-dollar suit charging that it had been libeled by the union's newspaper.

The suit also sought an injunc-tion to prohibit the paper from publishing statements which would discourage the company's custom-ers. The suit in 1948 was thrown out by the Illinois Supreme Court.

The union, which no longer is active in Montgomery Ward, filed its counter suit last April.

Chief Hunstein further stated that the young women who are accepted for enlistment in the WAVES will have the same op-portunities, rights and benefits as the men of the U. S. Navy. In-cluded, is the opportunity to travel, both in the United States as well as in countries such as Italy, Ger-many, France, England and in Hawaii. WAVES may be accepted for training in such fields as elec-tronics, hospital corps, journalism, administrative duties, photog-raphy, aerography, communica-tions, dental technicians, as well as many others.

Young women between the ages of 18 and 25 who are high school graduates and are unmarried, are invited to contact the Navy Re-cruiter whose office is located in the Post Office building in Mar-ion, and discuss with him the op-portunities which are available to a U. S. Navy WAVE.

Reds Withdraw From Vicinity Of Laos Capital

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The French High Command announced today the Communists have with-drawn suddenly from the vicinity of Luang Prabang, capital of Laos.

The dramatic withdrawal came amid mounting French Union at-tacks which were interpreted as the opening of a campaign to tie down Communist Viet Minh forces in present positions until the April 26 big power conference on Korea and Indochina.

Only 10 days ago Luang Prabang appeared to be under the threat of an immediate, all-out Red at-tack.

It was not immediately clear whether increasing French military pressure or a Communist desire to quiet the fighting front pending the outcome of the Geneva conference prompted the withdrawal.

Some 1,500 Communist troops vanished from the very gates of the Laotian capital today.

French patrols, ranging out eight miles into the jungles around Luang Prabang found no sign of the Red "regional" forces which were dug into their Chinese-style bunkers and menacing the city only a short time ago, the High Com-mand said.

As French forces struck out, Emperor Bao Dai called in his top advisers to discuss India's appeal for an Indochina ceasefire.

The suggestion was made Mon-day by Indian Prime Minister Jawa-harlal Nehru.

Spring Barrow Show To Emphasize 'Meat Type' Hog

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—The "meat type hog" will be emphasized at the annual Southern Illinois Spring Barrow Show at the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds Thursday through Sat-urday.

The show is open to hog raisers in 33 Southern Illinois counties and is sponsored by Southern Illinois Inc., the Du Quoin Packing Co. and the Du Quoin State Fair Assn.

The 10 top hogs in lightweight and heavyweight divisions will be picked Thursday and be butchered the following day. The carcasses will be judged Saturday.

Better Heed Wife, Warns Executive

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—The busi-ness man who wants success should "learn to appreciate his wife and seek her counsel," says one indus-try executive.

"The wife is more important than you think," said Charles E. Deger, merchandising executive of the Owens-Illinois Glass Co. "If you had to pay for the services performed, it would cost around $150 per week."

"In a year's time," he told a re-cent meeting of the Cleveland Salesman's Council, "the wife cooks 1,095 meals, does 650 hours of cleaning, is in the laundry 312 hours, spends 26 hours mending, and usually has a smile at the end of each monotonous day."

"Share your planning and des-tinies with her," Deger said. "Her natural shopper's intuition will re-sult in golden practical advice."

By Williams House Republicans Reject Proposals For Lower Taxes

By United Press

Democrats tried unsuccessfully today to get a House Ways and Means committee okay for higher personal income tax exemptions.

They also lost an attempt to get a vote now to cut excise taxes on furs, cosmetics, movie tickets, and such.

Democrats on the tax-writing committee proposed that the in-come tax exemption for each in-dividual and dependent be boosted from $600 to $700.

Republicans rejected the pro-posal, as they had previously when the Democrats first offered it.

When Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.) proposed to put a 10 per cent ex-cise tax ceiling on all items now taxed above that rate, Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) ruled him out of order. Reed said the committee is considering tax code revisions, not adjustment of tax rates. He said the committee will consider excise tax cuts later.

Most Security Risks Take New Jobs: McLeod

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional testimony revealed today that nearly half the 590 security risks "separated" from the State Department last year transferred to other government agencies.

It also confirmed previous reports that 11 of the 590 were fired for "pro-Communist activities or association." Seven of these cases were initiated during the Truman administration.

Scott McLeod, the department's security personnel chief, supplied this information at a secret hearing of a House Appropriations Subcommittee Jan. 25. The testimony was made public today.

Congressional hearings now have shown that out of 1,057 security "separations" in seven departments and agencies, there were 40 cases involving subversion. The administration meanwhile is preparing a breakdown of the 2,200 security separations announced for the government as a whole.

McLeod conceded he didn't know whether any of the State Department security risks actually were Communists because his investigations don't go that far. If there are such indications, he said, the FBI takes over.

"Your ordinary investigations would not have turned up Alger Hiss," asked Rep. Frederic R. Coudert (R-N.Y.), referring to the former State Department official imprisoned for lying about his Communist connections.

For himself, Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith testified he did not know if any Communists had been found, saying the "only time" he checked he was conscious of only two probable cases — Hiss and a minor employee fired some years ago because he was found to be a Red.

McLeod provided the State Department breakdown of security separations reluctantly after Coudert threatened to block funds for his office.

ing at one point to say that he was "very much disturbed" that Stevens had made personal calls on other members of the subcommittee to protest McCarthy's treatment of an Army witness last week.

The witness was Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, commander of Camp Kilmer, N. J., a World War II combat hero who was questioned by McCarthy. Stevens later accused McCarthy of "abusing" Zwicker.

Stevens told reporters again that Zwicker will not appear at McCarthy's hearing on Thursday. Stevens has ordered Zwicker to ignore a summons from McCarthy. "The officer will not appear but I will be delighted to do so," Stevens said today. He declined to answer a question as to whether the White House had promised to support him in his dispute with McCarthy.

Select Jury To Hear Lawsuit

A resumption of the December term of Saline county circuit court was started this morning before Judge C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna with the selection of a jury to hear the lawsuit, Opal David vs. Richard Swansey.

The suit arose from a collision of the David and Swansey cars on Route 13 in Buena Vista west of Harrisburg on Oct. 13, 1951.

Mrs. David, who seeks damages for injuries, is represented by the law firm, Rumsey and Dennis. Swansey is represented by Atty. DeWitt Twente.

Woman Jeweler Refuses Any Further Testimony at Atomic Espionage Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Victoria Stone, a New York jeweler, refused angrily today to answer most questions put to her at a House hearing on atomic espionage.

She told the House Un-American Activities committee her name, address, and occupation. But she refused to answer other questions because, she said, her testimony might "tend to incriminate or degrade me."

The committee is seeking evidence about a spy ring it says was operated during the war by Arthur Adams, described as a Russian-born "charter member" of the Communist party.

Intimate Associate

The plump, 49-year-old Mrs. Stone previously had told the committee at a secret session that she was an "intimate associate" of Adams, who is believed to have fled to Russia in 1945 after getting a tip that the FBI was on his trail. Asked why, having testified freely in the past, she now believed her answers might be self-incriminating, Mrs. Stone replied:

"I thought that you would let me alone . . . but it still goes on . . . things are written about me that are not true."

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) said the committee is giving her an opportunity to clear up any misunderstanding.

France Lays Down Conditions as Price For EDC Ratification

PARIS (AP) — France has laid down to her allies a series of conditions as the price for ratification of the European Defense Community pact which is to bring German troops into a West European army, it was made known today.

The conditions include United States-British support for the European six-nation army and a settlement of the dispute with the West German government over the future of the rich Saar basin coal fields.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the ratification of the army pact by the French Parliament depends on the satisfying of these terms.

Pope Forced Back To Bed as Slow Recovery Halted

ROME (AP) — A temporary halt to the slow but steady recovery of Pope Pius XII has forced him back to bed, Vatican sources said today.

The sources emphasized there was no cause for alarm but Catholic sources in Rome continued to worry about the lack of progress in the Pontiff's bout with gastritis.

German Jesuit Father Josef Hendrix brought his portable altar to the Pope's bedside this morning to say Mass. The Pope felt well enough Monday to hear Mass at his private chapel.

Vatican sources said the spiritual leader of 400,000,000 Roman Catholics had shown new signs of fatigue and overexertion.

They said it was apparent that the exertion of recording his annual message to the sick of the world for a broadcast two Sundays ago, resuming conferences and moving about in his apartment had tired the Pope.

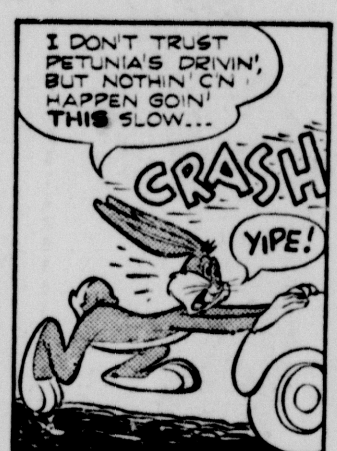

Authoritative sources said the Pope was in such a weakened condition two weeks ago that his recording had to be made a sentence at a time for three days to make up the four-minute total.

The Pope's voice, when it was heard around the world on Feb. 14, was weaker than usual.

Senator Johnson Charges Busch Uses Cardinals to Promote Beer Monopoly

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edwin C. Johnson charged today that brewer August A. Busch is using the St. Louis Cardinal baseball club to promote a beer "monopoly." He offered a bill to stop it.

The Colorado Democrat, who is president of the Western League, said the Cardinals, under the control of Busch, are being used "to sell beer to the detriment of competing local breweries and the destruction of local baseball clubs."

In a Senate speech, Johnson described Busch as "a very personable and able huckster." He said Busch regards baseball as "a cold-blooded, beer-peddling business, and not the great American game which good sportsmen revere."

Johnson said Busch is planning to broadcast Cardinal games under the sponsorship of the Anheuser-Busch Brewery, which owns 120 radio stations "with total disregard" for local ball clubs and for local breweries. He said Busch is "hell-bent for minor league destruction."

"He is using the St. Louis Cardinals to promote the monopoly of Anheuser-Busch over his competitors in the brewing industry, and at the same time he is ruthlessly and deliberately annihilating minor league baseball in a large area of the Midwest," Johnson said.

"But in this crusade he does not give away beer. He gives away baseball and he takes a nice fat tax deduction in doing it."

"With Uncle Sam picking up the tab, it is nice going for a beer peddler," the senator said.

Indiana Drops Home Tilt To Iowa, 82-64; Faces Challenge for Big 10 Title

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten basketball chase turned into a three team struggle to the wire today as front running Indiana faced the challenge of both Iowa and Illinois for the final two weeks of the season.

The Hoosiers, never out of first place since the Big Ten campaign began, toppled to the underdog Iowa five at Bloomington Monday night, 82-64, for the first home defeat for Indiana in 23 games.

The Hawkeye victory, though, left Iowa only a game out of a tie for first place and Illinois only a game and a half behind. Both Indiana and Iowa have two games remaining while Illinois has three.

Indiana, despite its lead, can not clinch an undisputed title until the final night of the season, March 6, when it faces Illinois, unless the Illini should drop one of their other two games, with Michigan and Northwestern.

Could Tie for Crown
Should Illinois win both of these battles while Indiana trips Ohio State Saturday at Columbus in its only other remaining game, then an Illinois win over the Hoosiers March 6 would leave the two teams tied for the crown.

Iowa, by beating its remaining foes, Michigan State and Ohio State, also could earn a share of the crown should Indiana lose one more contest.

An Ohio State win over Indiana became a good possibility today as the Buckeyes, idle Monday night, have posted upset wins at home over both Iowa and Minnesota in the past 10 days and both have been first division title challengers since the season began.

Indiana, on the other hand, had

Cardinals Buy Vic Raschi from New York Yankees

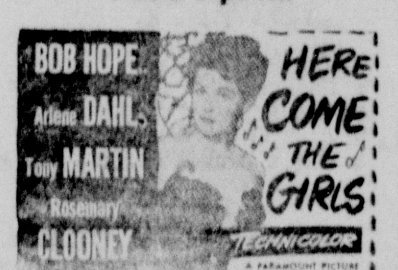

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The New York Yankees today sold Vic Raschi, a star right-handed pitcher of their five consecutive world championships, to the St. Louis Cardinals in a surprise "waiver" deal.

Raschi, who had been holding out for a higher salary, was sold for a sum estimated at more than $100,000 and some minor league players to be determined later.

To complete the deal, Raschi had to be waived out of the American League. National League clubs which finished lower than the Cardinals in the 1953 pennant race also had to waive on him.

HART'S

Come A-Smokin' by Nelson Nye

Copyright 1953 by Nelson Nye.
Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Grete Marratt, a fugitive, has learned that Clem Ryerson, owner of the Wineglass ranch, is a man he has sworn to kill and has told Ryerson that the next time they meet to "come-a-smokin'." Meanwhile Ryerson's foreman, believing that Marratt is Luke Usher, a man Marratt resembles, is after Marratt's scalp because he has been stealing Usher's cattle. Usher disappeared 15 years ago and when Marratt appeared, he is mistaken for Usher. Evidence against Foreman Chuk Crankin is canceled checks received for the stolen cattle sold to the Indian agency as beef. Ryerson's daughter, Naome, has the checks and Crankin has sent Tularosa, a murderous hireling, to get them. When Marratt returns to the Usher ranch, he finds Naome struggling with Tularosa.

XIX
Marratt wanted only to die. Merciful and quick. There was a brimstone taste to his rag-dry mouth and the blow from Tularosa's knee had all but knocked him out. Yet when he saw the glint of that gun barrel coming he had sense enough left to try and roll away from it. The blow missed his head but almost took an arm off. He could feel the cold shock all the way to his toenails. Through a haze like spun glass he could see the blue green of the sunlit tamarisks and the curl-patched trunk of the long-leaved eucalyptus beyond the rear door's bright oblong, and down by its threshold the shine of Jake's pistol.

He let go of his belly and began to crawl toward it. Something charged across his vision and plowed into something behind him. He heard the scuff of struggling bodies. He didn't stop to look. He locked his eyes straight ahead and kept crawling. It wasn't till he heard the ragged jump of Naome's breath hit high C in a scream that Marratt jerked his head around. There was blood on Tularosa's gun barrel. Blood's crimson was lacing through the blue welt beneath the girl's breasts; and it was this which pulled Marratt onto his feet through the reedy crackle of the gunhawk's laughter and slammed him, snarling, at that grotesque shape.

He saw the crazy eyes turn, saw the gunmuzzle lift, saw the flame gouting out of that blood-spattered barrel. He didn't feel the slug's impact. The only thing he had room for was the satisfaction of seeing that pockmarked face rocking backward, eyes enormous, from the force with which he'd hit it.

The bony arms flapped outward as the man tried to catch his balance. Sight of the gun still clenched in one fist brought all Marratt's rage boiling up. His right caught the barrel, his left grabbed the arm, and he slammed the man's wrist hard against the door's casing. Even through the wild screech he could hear the bones snap. He spun the man around and broke his other wrist also. "Go show those to Bella Loma!" Then he flung him through the door.

Naome was watching him when Marratt passed out. He'd retrieved the pistol lost at the outset and, crossing to the door letting into the hall, had been stooping to pick up the one the man had struck her with when the hinges of his knees let go and dropped him, limp, across the boards of the floor.

She did not cry out. She did none of the things a lady would have done, though the memory of Tularosa firing at him point-blank was the most vivid recollection in her mind at that moment. She stepped around Marratt and picked up Tularosa's gun, glad to find when she broke it open its chambered cylinder still held two unfired cartridges. She went onto the back stoop with the heavy pistol in her hand and looked around for Tularosa without seeing him.

Returning she saw Marratt's boots on the stoop and took them inside. She rolled him carefully over. Tularosa had missed. There was torn cloth edged with blood high up on his left shoulder but examination revealed this to be little more than the track of a powder blast. His collapse had been the result of exhaustion.

She repaired her appearance as best she was able. She fetched some rags from a cupboard. Unbuttoning Marratt's torn shirt she did what she could for the powder burn and, soaking two of the rags with turpentine, bound them over his chest and stomach just

Trial of Labor Leaders Ready To Go to Jury

ST. LOUIS — The racketeering trial of three AFL construction union leaders was scheduled to go to a jury in Federal Court here late today.

Federal Judge Ruben M. Hulien scheduled 90 minutes of final arguments by government prosecutors and attorneys for the defense. The jury was expected to get the case about 3 p. m. following instructions from Hulien.

Defendants are Carl Bianchi, out-state representative of the Hoisting Engineers Union; William Poster, Business agent of a Building Laborers' local, and Lawrence A. Thompson of Cape Girardeau, Mo., business agent of a Construction Chauffeurs' local. They are charged with extorting more than $15,000 from an Oklahoma construction firm on two pipeline jobs in out-state Missouri in 1950 and 1951.

Defense attorneys wound up their case Monday without calling the defendants to testify. The final defense witness was William (Whitey) Stubb of Collinsville, Ill., international representative of the AFL Operating Engineers Union. He said he "understood" that the labor dispute, which the government alleged resulted in the shutdown, had been settled before the alleged offense occurred.

tightly enough to keep them in place. She righted his overturned table, put the groceries away that were still fit to put away. He groaned and she got up and went over to him. "You're all right," she said, "just take it easy." She helped him onto his feet.

"Did you take care of my horses?" She looked surprised. "I didn't see any horses but those two in the yard." He told her where he'd left them and while she was gone he got into his boots. When she came back he was in the front room stretched out on the couch underneath Jake's picture. The resemblance was startling. "Is that old Jake?" she asked.

Marratt nodded. "I shouldn't think, after what I said to your father—" Their eyes met and locked and something stronger than themselves pulled them together. His hand gripped her shoulders. Naome's eyes were frightened, questioning. Their lips clung and then she pushed him away.

"You're wrong about Dad." "Did you fetch that gun fighter along to persuade me?" he asked. "I came to give you those checks I took from Heckwith's office. Tularosa followed me here — to get them, I suppose. I still have them, thanks to you."

Douglas Urges Balloon Food Packets to Reds

WASHINGTON — Sen. Paul H. Douglas today proposed a two-million-dollar "balloon" offensive to carry messages and packets of surplus food across the Iron Curtain into the Russian satellites.

The Illinois Democrat said he plans to introduce a resolution to authorize the secretary of state to carry on such a campaign.

Meanwhile, the U. S. Information Agency estimated in congressional testimony made public today that Russia spent more than $1,160,000,000 on propaganda programs last year.

Director Theodore C. Streibert

said Moscow's satellites spent another 529-million dollars supporting the Soviet propaganda effort. And these figures do not count untold sums spent indirectly on propaganda outside the Iron Curtain, he said.

Douglas declared in a statement that food made available to East Germans in Berlin's Western zone resulted in "one of the worst beatings communism has taken." He said the feasibility of sending balloons into the satellites was proved several years ago.

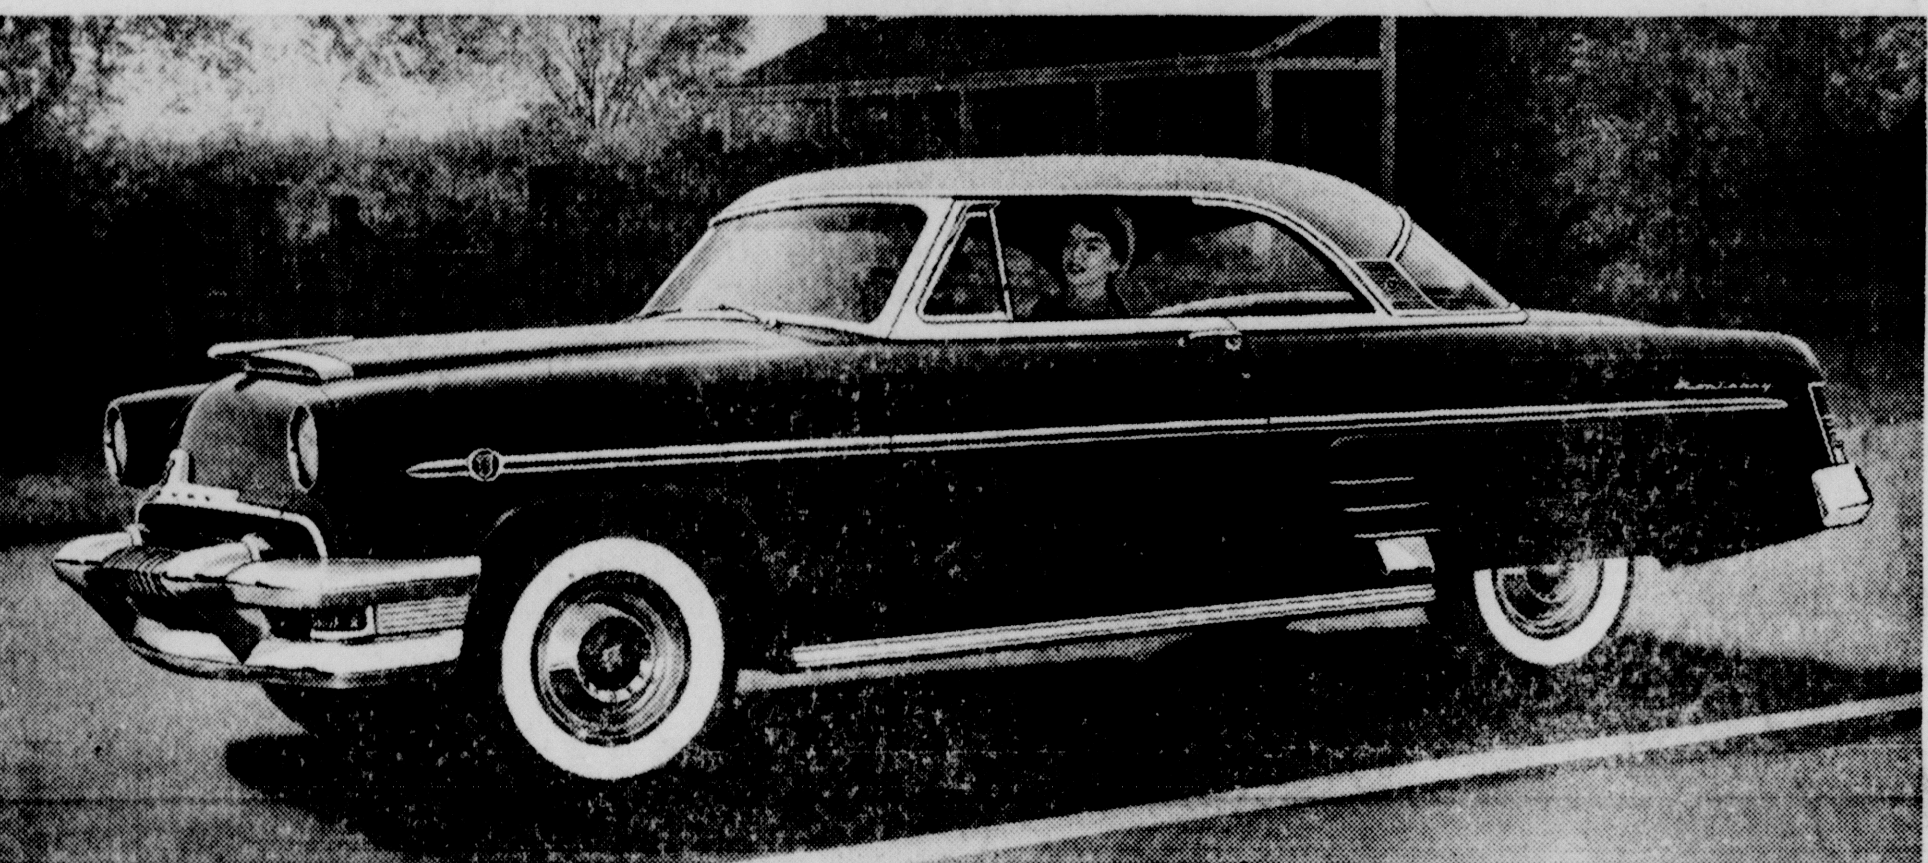

"The use of freedom food in small packets, capable of being airborne, could have a tremendous effect in offsetting Communist propaganda of starvation and scarcity in this country. Anyone who picks up a bit of freedom food wrapped in a freedom message is not going to be misled by lies that we are starving," the senator said.
